Summary

I am a junior software developer, with a Diploma on Full Stack Development and advanced frontend. I have demonstrated my skills in my portfolio projects that can be viewed on my GitHub profile. I have participated 3 hackathons, gaining experience from agile methodologies and teamwork. Additionally, I have been working in Life Science industry for 5 years, providing me experience in problem solving, communication and attention to detail. My experiences in life science led me eventually to the path of software development since developing applications, tools and solutions is what I enjoy the most!
